We have successfully sabotaged the cannon, and it now fired the Tinker right into the Gypsy Camp. We demanded he hand over the Shadow Tuning fork we hear he has created, but he swears he does not have it and has hidden it in a place we would never look. Well, we will find this Tuning fork, and until we do the tinker is our prisoner. It seems Vincent has changed the password yet again on us, and we are forced to hold up here tonight while trying to solve his riddle to leave this place - as we dare not leave the gates and face the Ratmen, the imps, the Efreets, and other nasties that walk outside.
